Epson launches new dye-sublimation printers with enhanced usability

SINGAPORE, 9 January 2020 – Epson has announced the launch of their new 64-inch, dye-sublimation printers, the SureColor SC-F9430 and SC-F9430H digital textile printers. The SC-F9430 and SC-F9430H printers have been developed to deliver outstanding quality and high-volume printing, for sports apparels, fashion apparel, home decorations, outdoor signage as well as other printed merchandise.

In a first for Epson, the SC-F9430H printer offers businesses the additional feature of printing fluorescent colours using the new Epson genuine fluorescent yellow and fluorescent pink inks. The new Epson Fluorescent Color Collection library in Edge Print software enables colour processing for fluorescent inks, bringing customers more colour variation during processing.

Ms. Tan May Lin, Director – Sales, Marketing and Customer Service of Epson Sales division, Epson Singapore said, “The introduction of Epson’s genuine fluorescent solution provides new value to our customers. Customers can now get a wider application of sports apparel, fashion wear, home decorations and even soft signage with our fluorescent inks, opening the doors to greater creativity and expression in design.”

She added, “We’ve also introduced a wider choice of EMX files, an instructional and maintenance video that can be launched from a QR code, and a host of other features that make set-up, usage and maintenance simple and easy. We’re sure that the SC-F9430 series will have a positive effect on the bottom line of many businesses.”

Powered by Epson’s PrecisionCore Thin Film Piezo printhead technology, the SC-F9430 series come with a total solution, including its Epson engineered Ultrachrome DS and Ultrachrome DS6 inks as well as its Edge Print software for enhanced control of print output and LFP Accounting Software for tracking of print jobs.

In addition to the enhanced usability of this F-Series range, Epson has retained many of the key functions from previous models that enable Epson to drive innovation in the industry and increase opportunities for businesses.

The SC-F9430 series is an evolution of trusted Epson print technology and provides enhanced quality and usability for improved productivity.

The SC-F9430 and SC-F9430H printers retail for SGD 35,000 and SGD 40,000 respectively.
